“The work of memory collapses time.”
—Walter Benjamin

Kendra Keefer is an interdisciplinary artist, educator, and poet. She designs installations that layer new and traditional media, including time-based media, painting, photography, and poetry. Through storytelling and autoethnography, her work investigates how trauma shapes human and non-human animal behavior, recognizing that we share hypervigilance in search of patterns with other animals. Keefer's work also considers migration, connection/disconnection to the landscape, the specificity of place, and the craving for home. Her investigations are grounded in insights gained from a childhood with a veteran father, who suffered from PTSD, experience parenting three neurodivergent children (two of them queer), and two decades of teaching in underserved communities.

Keefer has a BFA in Painting and Drawing, an MA in Art Museum Education, both from the University of North Texas, and an MFA from Southern Illinois University Carbondale. Her professional experience includes guiding a Museum Studies Graduate student through the Harvard Extension Program, designing museum education programs at the Art Institute of Chicago and the Dallas Museum of Art and teaching art at low-income public schools in rural Texas.

In 2021, I fled my home to ensure the safety of my LGBTQIA teen. This multimedia installation maps that relocation and on how it echoed childhood relocations.

WAKE: IF HEAVEN'S NOT MY HOME

MULTIMEDIA INSTALLATION INCLUDING VIDEO AND PERFORMANCE,

Spring 2022

It had become my routine to observe a specific herd every morning after dropping my teenager off at school. Estranged from my family of origin, watching the deer take care of each other, gave me comfort. One morning, I found that a young male member of the herd had been killed by a car the night before. Enlisting my teenager's help, I drew on the rituals I had grown up with to honor the young buck's life.

When the crows walk us home,
The goats bring the joy,
And the coyotes sing us to sleep,
Then will we be free?
